Take A Bite Out Of Malware. Sink Your Teeth Into Sales.

Trusted And Authoritative

The single most critical factor of endpoint security threat intelligence is comprehensive remediation of landed malware—the malware that is getting past existing endpoint protection and resides on machines. At Malwarebytes, we have a long and strong history as the go-to vendor for endpoint malware remediation. Our expertise in endpoint incident response means we understand the “bad stuff”—the attacks that successfully execute on corporate devices. This footprint generates the world’s most informed threat intelligence telemetry of data and the best remediation of zero-day malware. We are trusted by millions—handling more than 3 million remediation events per day with proactive prevention and integrated remediation.

Ahead Of Emerging Threats

Cybercrime doesn’t rest, so neither do we. We stay two steps ahead of emerging threats so that you can keep your customers, and your reputation, protected. Malwarebytes Endpoint Protection and Response provides at-a-glance situational assessment, continuous visibility into endpoints, reduces the dwell time of zero-day threats, offers three modes of endpoint isolation and extends response options beyond alerts. We don’t just alert, we fix it.

We proactively prevent attacks with Malwarebytes Multi-Vector Protection (MVP), which uses seven-layered protection across all stages of an attack. If an endpoint is compromised, Malwarebytes isolates the endpoint, prevents lateral movement, and locks out remote attackers.

Our rollback technology allows a user to wind back the clock to negate the impact of ransomware by leveraging just-in-time backups. Our proprietary Linking Engine provides complete and thorough remediation to rapidly return an endpoint to a truly healthy state and minimize impact to the end user.

Success Breeds Success

Credibility doesn’t come from saying you’re good; it comes from others spreading the word. One of the best things you can hope for is customer referrals—and Malwarebytes has a collection of customer case studies and testimonials. The industry also is recognizing Malwarebytes. Gartner positioned us in the Visionary quadrant in the 2018 Magic Quadrant for Endpoint Protection Platforms. For three years, CRN has awarded us the 5-Star Partner Program Guide designation, and this year we were honored as one of the “Top 20 Coolest Endpoint Protection Vendors” on CRN’s Security 100 list. We also earned two Gold 2018 Cybersecurity Excellence Awards for “Fastest Growing Cybersecurity Company” and best “Endpoint Security” solution. It all adds up to credibility—which is good for our partners.
